THAT DEADLOCK

Broken at the Meeting of Last Night.

Election of William F. Curtin a Democratic Victory.

Councilman Coward Dared to Cut the Cordian Knot Despite Opposition.

COUNCILMAN GARVEY MADE A PROPOSITION TO REPUBLICANS, IT WAS REJECTED.

The $300,000 Loan Passed—Committees on Finance and Accounts Elected.

It is President Curtin of the common council.

With a look of determination and with just the slightest sign of worry evident on his countenance, Councilman Goward arose in the council chamber, last evening, and declared his intention of voting for a democrat for president of the common council.

This was glad tidings and called forth an outburst of applause from the democratic side of the house. Councilman Goward made his declaration after the fourth ballot, and carried out his purpose on the tenth.

Clerk Simonds could not get the council together till 9.15, although a majority of the members were at city hall before 8 o'clock.

The roll was called and it was announced that Councilman Reynolds and Sanborn had paired. Balloting for president commenced immediately and four ballots were taken with the following result:

First—Barry 11, Hartwell 11.
Second—Garvey 11, Hartwell 11.
Third—Maguire 11, Hartwell 11.
Fourth—Mansfield 11, Hartwell 11.

Then Mr. Goward got the floor and made his famous declaration that broke the deadlock, preluding it with a few remarks in which he stated that it was time to stop fooling and transact public business.

The next ballot was declared null and void because 23 votes had been cast. It was the same on the next and then Councilman Curtin moved that in all future ballots the councilmen pass before the clerk and deposit their ballots.

Councilman Garvey thought the idea a good one. "But," said he, "I believe we are wasting time. If the republicans will give us city clerk and city treasurer they can have the presidency, or give us the latter and they can take clerk and treasurer."

He then moved as an amendment that a recess of 15 minutes be taken to effect a compromise.

Councilman Curtin opposed the amendment as he believed that every proposition that could be made had been rejected, and that a conference was made impossible because of the action of one man.

The amendment was ruled out of order and the original motion passed. Then the members filed up and placed their ballots in the box at the clerk's desk. Hartwell and Delehanty each had 11 votes.

Councilman Garvey then addressed the council and stated that he had been given assurance that if a republican president is elected, the democrats can have a clerk and treasurer. "That being the case," he said, "I give notice that I shall vote for Mr. Hartwell."

The councilmen looked at each other and it was so quiet that one might hear a pin drop in the chamber. Then another ballot was taken and sure enough Mr. Garvey voted for Hartwell, but there was no choice Hartwell having 10, Gormley 10 and Rivet 2.

Then Mr. Garvey arose and made a statement that called forth applause. "It is evident to me," he said, "that the republicans are not anxious to do business. I do not propose to stand in the way of electing a democratic friend."

Following Mr. Garvey came Mr. Hartwell who very briefly stated that he refused longer to be a candidate. He said that all year he had been endeavoring to arrange a compromise to break the deadlock but he found some people opposed to everything.

Councilman Riley said he too had been laboring to break the deadlock, and he believed the only solution was to keep on balloting.

The next ballot resulted, Hunton 1, Goward 1, Rivet 3, Hartwell 6 and Gormley 11.

Then it came out this way, Mikella 11, Rivet 5, Goward 3, Hartwell 2, Hunton 1.

The following ballot showed 11 for Reynolds, 8 for Rivet and 3 scattering.

Curtin Elected.

The next ballot brought a democratic victory with it. It was Curtin's now and when the committee retired to count the ballots, the result was awaited patiently. Scarcely had the last ballot been reached when a noise and loud talk from the committee room conveyed the good news. Curtin had received the democratic strength and with the aid of Councilman Goward, and it is said Webster, was chosen to the presidency. The ballot stood, Curtin 12, Rivet 8, Morse 1.

On motion of Councilman Hounsell the ballots were preserved.

President Curtin was escorted to the chair by Messrs. Hartwell, Mansfield and Webster and made one of those pretty little speeches for which he has already acquired a reputation. He said:

"I thank you even at this eleventh hour. To be selected for this position, second only to the chief magistracy of the city, any man may be pardoned for being proud."

I accept each part of its responsibilities as well as honor and to take away not one jot from its dignity, to preserve its reputation for fairness and impartiality and to add to it within the range of my humble possibilities its power for good, will to me be a pleasurable task. And in this work I ask the earnest and honest co-operation of each and every member.

Almost six months have now passed since we first assembled in this chamber as members of the government of '95, and commenced the struggle for supremacy in organization, and while each side hung tenaciously to political opinion, not an unkind word passed or strained relations existed between the members that I am aware of beyond what might reasonably be expected.

This augurs well for the future conduct of this council. It means, if it means anything, now that the great obstacle to the transaction of business has been removed only a reasonable length of time will be devoted to partisan struggle and that the greater work, the needs of the city and the wants of the people, will be speedily and economically attended to.

The speech was received with applause and was pronounced a "dandy" by republicans and democrats alike.

Appropriation Resolution Passed.

The rules of the common council and the city council were adopted.

Under a suspension of the rules the resolution to pay approved bills, passed. The resolution to borrow $300,000 then took its first reading.

Councilman Morse claimed the attention of the chair and moved that it be laid on the table till the next meeting. The motion was lost, and the question came on passing the resolution to a second reading.

Mr. Rivet said he wanted to see the resolution go through with the amount smaller. The $300,000 is what the republicans object to, and if the amount is lessened, it will be passed.

Mr. Riley said that there was no sense in electing a president and then refusing to appropriate this money. The money will not be all borrowed at once, but it will come as it is needed.

Mr. Delehanty did not believe in delaying matters by sending this resolution back to the aldermen in an amended form.

Mr. Webster did not think $300,000 was needed and wanted the amount made $200,000.

Mr. Mikella reminded the council that the money will be borrowed under the direction of the finance committee and if it is not needed it will not be borrowed. The resolution was given final passage by a vote of 13 to 9, Rivet and Oliver voting with the democrats.

Balloting for a finance committee was then commenced and Dickson got 10, Maguire 4, O'Day 2, Goward 2, Garvey 1, Hunton 1.

Another ballot was taken without a choice, and then a recess was voted.

After recess four more ballots were taken without a choice.

An order was adopted making the meeting nights of the council the second and fourth Tuesday of each month.

At this point a recess was taken for luncheon, and it was one o'clock before the members came together again.

A ballot was taken for a member of the finance committee and David Dickson was was elected, receiving 17 votes. He will be chairman of the committee.

On the next ballot Councilman Maguire received 20 votes and was declared elected.

President Curtin announced as a committee on accounts Councilmen Reynolds, Oliver and Garvey.

The council then adjourned till tomorrow evening.

SCHOOLS CLOSED

Interesting Graduating Exercises by Pupils.

THE PUBLIC AND PAROCHIAL MAKE GOOD SHOWING.

High and Grammar Schools, Sacred Heart and St. Michael's.

Of late years, owing to the many numbers on the program for the High school graduating exercises it has been found necessary to divide the program into two parts. The first portion of the exercises has generally been held on the day preceding that of graduation and while the attendance has not been quite so large as at the regular exercises held in Huntington hall still the program is always of equal merit.

Yesterday afternoon the opening of this year's exercises was held in the High school hall, which was crowded. The stage was set with pretty potted plants which formed a beautiful border around the raised platform.

Most of the participants were the young ladies of the school, in fact out of the 19 numbers in only 5 did any of the young men take part.

The singing was excellent, in fact every number on the program was worthy of great praise.

The selections were as follows:

Varnum School.

The Varnum school exercises were held in Odd Fellows' hall, Centralville, to-day. The program was rather a lengthy one, but interesting and entertaining throughout.

O years, forgotten never!
Each passing day goes on its way,
Its record stands forever.
And waste of leaves
Or garnered sheaves,
The record changeth never.

The steadfast soul must reach the goal,
Life's highest end attaining,
Through noble aims, unselfish claims,
The rising that is gaining.
So shall life's close
Find sweet repose
From work well done remaining.

St. Michael's School.

Among the most entertaining of the local annual school commencements was that of St. Michael's parochial school of Centralville which although established but six years is now one of the foremost institutions of its kind in the city.

The attendance filled St. Michael's church to the doors, last evening at the closing exercises.

At 7.30 o'clock the curtain on the large stage rolled back, presenting the children of the school in holiday attire who were prettily introduced by Rev. Michael O'Brien, pastor of the church. Fr. O'Brien in his remarks dwelt upon the enormous and steady growth of the institution which is now one of the largest in the city and paid high tribute to the efficiency and zeal of the good Dominican sisters, congratulating also the children upon their diligent application to study with results creditable to themselves and gratifying to their teachers and friends.

At the conclusion of Fr. O'Brien's remarks, Charles Burns opened the exercises with an address of welcome, happily composed and admirably delivered.

Then followed the program which was surprisingly well carried out. The program was a treat and was thoroughly enjoyed by all. It was of a dramatic character, the chief feature being the drama entitled "Through the Fires of Sorrow."

Those who participated were: Etta Foye, Helen Fitzpatrick, Maude Gillespie, Margaret Callahan, Etta Monahan, Rosella McCluskey, Baby Furlong, Lydia Wood, Grace Donahue, Stannie O'Brien, Mary Leary and Mary Gallagher.

Next followed a farce "No Cure no Pay" by Mary Quinn, Mary Manning, Annie Joyce, Alice McAvoy, Annie Englesby, Agnes Sherry, Alice Hennessey.

Another after piece was "The Troubles of Little Ones" participated in by Katharine McDonough, Margaret Murray, Helen Thompson, Gertrude Doherty, Katharine Breen, Nellie Breen, Margaret Meagher, Zaphie Pollard, Ellen Morris, Alice Joyce, Alice Slowy.

There were other musical and literary features, all of which were highly enjoyed.

Among those present were Superintendent of Schools A. K. Whitcomb, School Committeemen Mulligan and Kelly, the clergy of St. Michael's, Rev. Frs. Burke, Gleason and Leonard of St. Patrick's; Rev. Fr. Shaw of North Chelmsford, and the Xaverian Brothers.

Owing to the meeting of the city government His Honor, Mayor Courtney, was unable to attend.

Sacred Heart School.

The closing exercises of the Sacred Heart school took place, last evening in the school hall and were largely attended. The program was well selected and the children participating took their parts admirably. The program was as follows:

St. Patrick's Girls School.

The closing exercises at St. Patrick's Girl's school and the distribution of prizes to the pupils of the academy and school occurred yesterday morning in the school hall, in presence of a large attendance.

The program was well arranged and its numbers were given between the awards to the different classes, relieving any monotony that might arise. All the boarders left for their homes this morning and the academy is now closed until September.

WAGES OF SIN

Sensational Double Tragedy in French Capital.

WIFE'S LOVE FOR HER HUSBAND SHOWN.

In Her Suicide Following His Example.

PARIS, June 26.—Mme. Carrie was formerly the wife of a Vienna banker named Balitzer. She employed M. Carre as counsel to obtain a divorce from Balitzer. The acquaintance thus formed resulted in her marrying Carre. The latter, however, had an intrigue with a married woman, whose husband threatened to get him disbarred from practice.

Carre induced him to agree to a duel instead, whereupon the women informed Mme. Carre of the intended duel with a view to preventing it. Carre entered the room while the woman was revealing the affair, and, gathering from his wife's countenance that she was unlikely to forgive him, said that nothing remained but to kill himself.

Madame replied, "Yes," and rushed to the dressing room and seized a bottle of laudanum. Carre's secretary, who followed, snatched the bottle away, and at that moment a shot was heard. Carre had committed suicide. He fell in the arms of his wife and secretary. His wife exclaimed, "I forgive you, dear. I love you," and while the secretary was wiping the blood from Carre's temples she took the revolver from her husband's hands, rushed back into her dressing room and shot herself. Both died in a short time.

Carre was a wealthy advocate to the city of Paris and to most dramatic actors and authors. He had been a friend to Cambetta, Spuller and Clemenceau and a host of distinguished men. His wife was an accomplished and remarkably handsome woman.

Carre's mistress was the wife of a high legal functionary. It was Mme. Carre's "at home" day, and there was to be a smart dinner party, followed by a theatrical and musical soirée. Mme. Carre had swallowed a portion of the laudanum before the secretary snatched the bottle.

M. Clemenceau states that he and Bernard de Rosne were to have been M. Carre's seconds in the duel with his mistress' husband. Carre had asked that the duel be postponed until Friday to enable him to put his affairs in order. His wife was passionately fond of him, and they will be buried in the same grave at a village near Troyes.

Buildings and Crops Damaged.

NORWICH, June 26.—A storm which assumed cyclonic proportions, accompanied by lightning and hail, struck Norwich yesterday afternoon. C. H. Hulbert's barn was demolished. Thomas Pearson was blown 20 feet. A. A. Maynard, Mrs. C. L. Swan and Abbie L. Hale were struck by lightning, but escaped serious injury. The roof of the grand stand at the New London county fair grounds was blown off, and about 400 feet of fence laid low. Hail was drifted about the parks six inches deep. Crops are greatly damaged.

Sweet Girl Graduates.

CAMBRIDGE, June 26.—The Radcliffe college commencement exercises were held yesterday in Sanders' theater. Addresses were made by Dean Irwin of Radcliffe and President Eliot of Harvard. Twenty-three degrees of A. B. were conferred. Seven graduates received the distinction of cum laude and seven others the distinction of magna cum laude. Three received the degree of A. M. This is the first year that graduates of Radcliffe have received a diploma similar to the Harvard diploma.

Killed Sweetheart's Father.

COLUMBUS, O., June 26.—John Melnar was hanged at the penitentiary early this morning. The heart beats ceased in just 18 minutes. Melnar stood the ordeal bravely. Melnar and two Hungarians killed Daniel Gehring because Gehring objected to Melnar marrying his daughter. Melnar's accomplices were sentenced to life imprisonment.

Opposition to Quay.

HARRISBURG, June 26.—Governor Hastings announces his candidacy for permanent chairman of the next Republican state convention, and declares himself for Colonel Gilkyson for state chairman, in opposition to Senator Quay. This draws the line between the administration on one side and Quay and his friends on the other.

Fast Wheeling at Manchester.

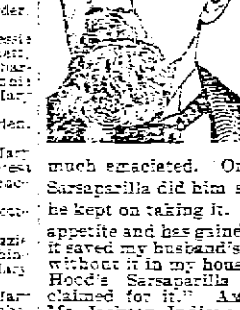

MANCHESTER, N. H., June 26.—Bicycle races by electric light were held here last night. Harry E. Caldwell of Manchester rode half a mile, unpaced, flying start, in 1m. 4 1-5s. Nat Butler of Boston went a mile, flying start, paced, in 2m. 7s., flat, breaking Bald's record of 2m. 13½s.

Van Heest Outpointed Marshall.

WHEELING, June 26.—Jerry Marshall, the Australian featherweight champion, and Johnny Van Heest, the 125-pound American champion, fought a 31-round draw here last night. Had the contest been for points, Van Heest would have been an easy victor.

Veterans

Of the war often need the toning, strengthening effects to be found in Hood's Sarsaparilla. Read this:

"My husband has suffered for years with catarrh, rheumatism and chronic diarrhoea contracted in the war. In the fall he had the grip and came near death's door. He could not eat or sleep and was much emaciated. One bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla did him so much good that he kept on taking it. He now has a good appetite and has gained in flesh. I think it saved my husband's life. I shall not be without it in my house hereafter. I know Hood's Sarsaparilla will do what is claimed for it." AMANDA CASTETTER, Mr. Jackson, Indiana.

2 O'CLOCK

QUICK KNOCK OUT

Gladstone Club's Meeting Ends Suddenly.

O'BRIEN WINS IN LESS THAN A MINUTE.

Interesting Preliminaries — Another Match Proposed.

"Man knocked down in first; took his time in getting up and was declared out" is the substance of a telegram sent by Jack McDonough's backer to Syracuse last night.

The telegram about covered the story.

The great O'Brien-McDonough contest at the Gladstone club was the quickest on record lasting about half aminute.

The trick was done so quickly that many didn't realize what had happened until the winner had been declared.

The bell rang; both went to the center. O'Brien rushing into McDonough and landing on his ribs. They came together and in the get away, O'Brien swung his right catching Jack under the left ear and down he went clean, O'Brien going against the ropes from the force of the blow.

McDonough stayed down crouching with hands and feet on the floor, O'Brien at his own corner.

Referee Scully is said to have lost his head and become rattled, so sudden was the turn of affairs. He counted the 10 seconds in undertone and at their termination declared O'Brien the winner.

Then there was excitement galore. Many were exceedingly wroth at the decision for McDonough was on his feet as fresh as ever immediately after and anxious to continue.

Some claim that Scully didn't count out 10 seconds; others that if he counted no one heard him.

Mr. Spencer, McDonough's backer, said that Scully should have stood up and counted so as to be heard by everyone, which is the custom in all big athletic clubs in America.

The spectators waited to see more boxing, and O'Brien offered to finish the eight rounds for fun, but McDonough wasn't boxing for fun and declined.

Then O'Brien started to leave the ring and was hissed. He was back in his seat in an instant and again offered to go on. "Mysterious" Billy Smith was called on to go with O'Brien, but he was obliged to decline, having met with a bad leg through an argument with a couple of Walcott's countrymen.

Both men left the ring and the 400 spectators went away greatly disappointed at not seeing eight hot rounds.

The men came in about 10 o'clock, O'Brien first. His seconds were "Mysterious" Billy Smith, Billy Hennessey, who fought Creedon Monday night, Prof. Kelly, his trainer, and Patsy Kerrigan, the Boston boxer.

A few minutes later McDonough came on with Tom Moriarty, Patsey Haley and Ed. Binney in his corner.

Both men fought at catch weights. McDonough weighed about 151 pounds and looked a trifle slim. O'Brien was in fine condition, perhaps somewhat fat and appeared the heavier of the two. The time keepers were Dan Murphy of Boston for O'Brien, Mr. Spencer of Syracuse for McDonough and Birge Pattee for the club.

Preceding the go Referee Scully gave the men instructions and said that the man having a decided advantage would be declared a winner.

Before the call of time, O'Brien said to his seconds: "I never felt more like boxing in my life."

One occurrence that struck a number as being peculiar and which is well to mention is the fact that while McDonough was down, Tom Moriarty reached a bottle of strong ammonia to his nose, causing Mac to shut his eyes for a few seconds, keeping him down as well. The action was well meant but it is extremely doubtful it did any good.

The preliminaries were very entertaining. Hooley and Chisholm went a six round draw for a starter. Then Elmer Arnold, the good natured Dracut boxer, bested Ralph Cullen in five rounds, doing all the damage in the last round.

The third preliminary was between Mike Sears of Lewiston who by the way is the half-brother of O'Brien and who looks and acts enough like him to be his twin, and Tommy Coburn of Boston. Sears can always be depended upon to put up an interesting go and he did last night having things his own way. The sports called Coburn a bluff with no license to put on the gloves but they did him an injustice for had it not been to entertain them he would not have gone on. Coburn is 35 years old and has been against Dixon, Griffin and others. His wife died quite recently leaving some small children depending upon Tommy. He came here to work and made arrangements for the go with Sears. Last night as he sat in the dressing room he received a telegram stating that his youngest child had died and had been buried yesterday afternoon. Under those circumstances a man should be excused for poor work and admired for going in at all.

There were about 400 present including many out-of-town men. Pres. Wescott of the Suffolk club, "Handsome" Dan Murphy, Nelson Innas and Arthur Couthers were among the Boston sports present.

After the meeting McDonough called on O'Brien at the Harris house and got the latter's consent to another match. Mr. Spencer will post the forfeit today.

INGLORIOUS END

The Child's Filibustering Party Loses Leader.

COMMANDER CASSALLES AND HIS BAND DISAPPEAR.

This Will Check Insurgents Near Havana.

WASHINGTON, June 26.—Word reaching official quarters in Washington, indicates that the filibustering expedition which was believed to have gone to Cuba on the steamer George Childs, has met with disaster. The boat was located after reaching Jamaica, but nothing definite has ever been heard as to the party beyond vague statements that they had landed at some remote point on the Cuban coast.

The last of these reports was two weeks ago on the 7th inst., since which time there has been no mention of what the band was doing. Information now reaching officials here leads to the belief that the party did not reach Cuba, but met with disaster off Florida, resulting in extreme hardship to its members.

Six of them have returned to Key West in a famished condition, having lived on crabs in the marshes of the keys off the Florida coast. From the fact that there has been no trace of the party in Cuba, the officials here believe that those who have suffered such hardships in the key's swamps are the main band of the Childs' party.

In view of the developments as to the Childs' filibustering party, it is not improbable that the United States cruiser Raleigh will turn her attention to them. She left Key West two days ago without announcing her destination, and it is possible she has received the information which now reaches here.

Cassalles' Band Dispersed.

Official confirmation was received from Havana yesterday as to the engagement between Major Garcia Delgado, with his Spanish command, and Cassalles, with insurgent forces. Cassalles and two others were killed and the band dispersed.

The engagement is said to have been specially important because of its locality. It occurred on the plantation of San Jose, near Placetas, province of Santa Clara.

This is the point nearest to Havana that the insurgents have reached. There was a decidedly gloomy feeling over their proximity to the capitol, because their commander, Cassalles, first enlisted in the Cuban volunteers in the service of Spain, and afterward deserted to the insurgents. His death, it is claimed, will break up the operations nearest Havana.

Its Twenty-Fifth Birthday.

CARIBOU, Me., June 26.—New Sweden yesterday celebrated the quarter-centennial of the foundation of the Swedish colony. W. F. Thomas, Jr., ex-United States minister to Norway and Sweden, and who 25 years ago brought the first colony of Swedish immigrants to Maine, delivered the principal address. The town was filled to overflowing with Swedes and other citizens from adjoining towns.

Fresh Trouble For Newfoundland.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., June 26.—The government was beaten on a snatch vote in the assembly yesterday. Their prestige is further damaged by statements copied from Canadian journals that the Canadian premier, Bowell, recently stated that the Newfoundland government had made several applications to them for financial help before the overtures for union began.

New Party Failed to Materialize.

GRAND RAPIDS, June 26.—Free silver men assembled here yesterday to organize an independent silver party in Michigan. After waiting till some time past the hour of meeting and the delegates having failed to materialize at the convention hall, the convention was declared to be a fizzle.

First Time Since December.

WASHINGTON, June 26.—The treasury gold reserve, as the result of the Belmont-Morgan syndicate paying in $1,000,000 in gold yesterday, became intact again for the first time since Dec. 14, 1894. It stands now at $100,830,355. There is still owing from the syndicate $6,000,000 in gold.

Triple Hanging Postponed.

FORT SMITH, Ark., June 26.—Cherokee Bill was not hanged yesterday, a stay of execution having been granted pending his appeal to the United States supreme court. Charles Smith and Weber Isaacs, who were also to have been hanged yesterday, likewise appealed and were granted respites.

Sanger Makes a New Record.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., June 26.—At yesterday's bicycle race, held by the West End Wheelmen, Sanger appeared as a professional and established a record for a half-mile, unpaced, for that class. His time was 58 1-5s., 1s. below the previous records.

Blamed Cousin For Misfortune.

NEW YORK, June 26.—George Bouis committed suicide last evening by shooting in the head. He resided in a fashionable apartment house on Thirty-third street. He left a letter accusing his cousin of being the cause of his misfortune.

Ice Cream Poisons Seventy.

GREENBACKVILLE, Va., June 26. — Nearly the entire population was poisoned by ice cream eaten at a festival given by the Methodist church. The three physicians of the town report 70 poisoned, of which 50 are in a critical condition.

Wanted For Larceny.

BANGOR, June 26.—Cynthia Page, 20 years old, of Brockton, was arrested here yesterday on a charge of larceny of money and diamonds from the house of Miss M. L. Edmunds of Brookline, Mass. She was taken to Boston.

Disagreed With Parents.

ROCHESTER, June 26.—Lillie B. Lark, aged 20, committed suicide by jumping into the canal. It is said that the girl had trouble with her parents over the attentions paid her by several young men.

Not a Green Hand.

SACO, June 26.—C. B. Hicks, arrested here for forgery, proves to be an old English crook. He has worked forged check games in Boston, Gloucester and other Massachusetts cities.

Considered National Affairs.

BUZZARD'S BAY, June 26. — Stormy weather kept the president indoors yesterday, and he devoted the time to official matters.

TREAS'R CLARK

Of the Talbot Mills Issues a Manifesto

ANNOUNCING HIS INTENTION TO OPEN [illegible].

Sent to Each [illegible] Strikers This [illegible]

The following communication has been issued by Treasurer Clark of the Talbot mills, N. Billerica:

NORTH BILLERICA, June 26, 1895.

As communications through a committee are liable, even with the best intentions on the part of the committee, to be misunderstood, we take this method of stating the exact position of the company.

It has always been our desire to treat our employes fairly and considerately, and in making the recent advance in wages we were influenced by the same spirit. The advance was not made the same to all, for the reason that the scale adopted was thought to be more equitable and just to all our employes than a uniform advance would have been. Comparisons with several mills, made since the shut-down, convince us that the scale, as a whole, was not only fair, but liberal.

With less haste and more consideration on the part of our employes, some of the points which have been brought to our attention could have been adjusted. As it is, we feel that the company has not been treated with the consideration which past relations deserved.

The mill will start on Monday, July 1, provided a sufficient number of those who left their work notify overseers or at office that they wish to return. This notification must be given not later than next Friday. The rate of wages will be at the advance announced previous to the shut-down. The company holds itself ready to make another advance when business conditions warrant it, and then due consideration will be given to claims as to inequalities.

TALBOT MILLS,
FREDERIC S. CLARK, Treasurer.

The strikers will hold a meeting tomorrow afternoon to discuss the proposition.

Now for a celebration of the Glorious Fourth.

THERE WERE two great knockouts last night, one at the Gladstone club, the other at the common council chamber.

A COUPLE of republican councilmen last night did what should have been done on January 1 in electing a democratic president of the common council.

PRINCIPAL BACHELDER of the Green school has made a good departure in securing the advice of prominent men for the benefit of the graduating class. Some of the maxims laid down for their guidance are invaluable if followed.

THE DEADLOCK BROKEN.

The deadlock is broken, it is smashed to flinderjigs, it is dead and buried never to be resurrected except as a reminiscence.

The democrats have won after a long and hard fought battle.

The top of the morning to you President Curtin.

So the republicans came around to our way of thinking after all.

Wonder if they will try the quo warranto proceedings upon you.

Councilman Goward was the prime mover in the act.

Councilman Sanborn had paired. He was sick of the whole business as were many others.

But now all is well.

The republicans can go ahead and take the offices within their grasp.

But Councilman Goward and somebody else—some say it was Hartwell, some say Dennison—voted for Curtin. Nobody will blame you Mr. President if you do the square thing by them. They deserve it.

Councilman Goward is a gentleman and a scholar.

His action will be appreciated and applauded by the bulk of our population.

In voting for Mr. Curtin he was not putting down republicans and elevating democrats, he was making business possible and it was to transact the city's business he was elected.

Of course all the others were elected for precisely the same purpose but somehow they could not agree to act as a unit, and between democrats and republicans Councilman Goward was the first to bridge the chasm.

Over that bridge at least a couple of republican office seekers can cross to the goal of their ambition unless some serious obstruction be raised in their way, but now that the deadlock is broken all will be peace and harmony until the republicans assume Control next year.

The council, last night, showed its solicitude for the teachers, the police officers and the firemen, who have received no pay for many months, by passing the $300,000 loan.

The city council, having done practically nothing thus far, must now put twelve months business into the five remaining months of the year.

All the outstanding bills must be paid. There will be a terrific rush on the treasury as soon as that temporary loan has been made available.

Work will be started where it should have been commenced long ago and who can tell but we may yet have a Fourth of July celebration. There is not a doubt that the present councilmen can expedite business if they see fit.

They have an opportunity to distinguish themselves for celerity as they have done for dilatoriness.

If the republican councilmen will only concur with their democratic colleagues and if the aldermen will concur with the lower board there will be no trouble and the city's business will be transacted so far as public necessity demands. The deadlock has passed into history.

Business.

Just as the surly man had for the twentieth time repulsed the life insurance agent a brick scow collided with the ferryboat, and the passengers were thrown into the water.

"Can you swim?" asked the agent, maintaining a finger in his victim's buttonhole.

"N-no," spluttered the surly man, wildly beating the water. "Oh, save me!"

"Promise to try one of our 15 year nonslippable tontine policies," demanded the agent.

"I—I promise," gurgled the surly man as he was sinking for the last time.

And inside of two minutes the agent had him on the wharf and was filling out an application.—New York Recorder.

THE CHURCH AND MAMMON.

Terrible Arraignment of the Ministry by a Methodist Clergyman.

The following is taken from a paper written by Rev. F. F. Passmore, a member of the Colorado conference of the Methodist Episcopal church. It was published in Our Nation's Crisis of Denver, and was addressed particularly to the young men in the forthcoming conference. The portion here given is mild and conservative compared with other parts of the letter, which was the most radical production of its kind in recent years, and gave the names of the chief transgressors "right out in meetin'."

The time has come when every true minister of the Methodist Episcopal church, from our bishops down, must take a stand squarely on God's word for justice, purity and truth. It is enough to make night and sin themselves blush to see how the ministry, including our bishops, are pandering to the world, and upholding crime and criminals.

From the sermons coming from our pulpits today it would seem as if our leading preachers had not the faintest idea of the nature of the divine mission to which they claim to have been called.

There is nothing in the world so powerful and effective as a consecrated, sanctified, spiritual, live and courageous pulpit. On the other hand, there is nothing so pale, so cumbersome, so weak, so lifeless, so contemptible, so useless and so cowardly as a man serving, time serving, money seeking ministry. A ministry that is so far lost to the spirit of the Master that it can preach to please the rich and the corrupt who are violating every law of God and desecrating every sacred right of man is in a condition that should arouse a sleeping church and slumbering age. Just as the preachers stood for the divine right of kings in the days of Cromwell and for the king and the nobility in the days preceding the French revolution and upheld the slaveholder in the antislavery struggle, so our bishops, elders, editors, college professors and the pastors of our great churches are standing by the rich and supporting them in outraging the poor.

If the Bible teaches anything on the subject of the ministry, it teaches that those who go to the world with this message of salvation are to give up the world, its wealth, its honor, its care, its glory, and be wholly consecrated to the welfare of mankind. The true, the loyal, the courageous watchman warns against all danger. The good shepherd looks after all the interests of the lambs and sheep. It was the great unwashed multitudes that Jesus, beholding in pity and compassion, said, "They are as sheep without a shepherd." The average man pleasing sermons of today on some effete subject of the past, or some irrelevant subject of the faraway future, will no more feed and satisfy humanity than they will the sheep. When Jesus said, "Feed my lambs, feed my sheep," he meant that his shepherds should take particular care in looking after the interests of humanity, as the shepherds care for their sheep, not looking after the rich and strong and favored ones and neglecting the poor and weak and sick and dying, not giving all their attention to Capitol hill and letting the people on the river go to perdition. The trouble with our age is that Christ is not being preached in our great churches by our great preachers. I mean just what I say—Christ is not being preached in one of the great Methodist churches from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

Great churches in whose pulpits stand men sending forth peals of impassioned oratory for the pleasure of a few rich and favored, and never a word for the thousands of poor, hungry and cold of humanity, who have been brought to this distress by the very men who are sitting enraptured by such eloquence, is about as far from being the true spirit of Christ as heaven is from hell. Some women and children picking up coal in the great rich city of Denver to keep from freezing, while other women and children in the same city are worshiping (?) God in a $250,000 Methodist church only a few blocks away, with the added luxury of soul enravishing music from a $30,000 organ. Does any sane man, saint or sinner, believe for a moment that either of these pictures—the one on the river, or the other on Capitol hill—is the product of true Christianity? If the people in the bottoms were not so poor, the people on the hill would not be so rich. If the people on the hill were not so rich, the people in the bottoms would not be so poor. Yet we have D. D.'s and schools of theology that are teaching that both these conditions are the results of Christianity.

Duty of the Individual.

Workingmen have great confidence in the power of organization, the existence of many labor societies being proof of that fact. But while perfecting these organizations they must remember that the strength and prosperity of the movement rest with the individual. There is no power in the best of organizations if the individuals composing it are weak and vacillating. The best help that can be given to the trades union movement is individual effort, each member seeking to promote a spirit of comradeship and cultivating a desire to supplement and assist every effort for the betterment of the human family.—Harry Franklin.

"HELP!"

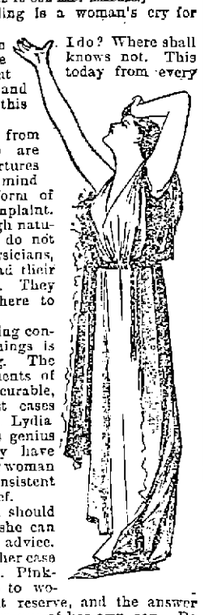

A WOMAN'S DESPAIRING CRY.

It is Heard. A Prominent Actress Escapes Great Danger.

[SPECIAL TO OUR LADY READERS.]

How startling is a woman's cry for help!

"What can I do?" She cry goes out city, town, and hamlet in this country.

I do? Where shall knows not. This today from every

It comes from women who are suffering tortures of body and mind from some form of female complaint. Many, through natural modesty, do not consult physicians, for many dread their examinations. They know not where to seek for help.

This alarming condition of things is simply wrong. The peculiar ailments of women are curable, and in most cases very speedily. Lydia E. Pinkham's genius and liberality have given to every woman a sure and consistent means of relief.

No woman should suffer when she can obtain free advice. She can state her case fully to Mrs. Pinkham, woman to woman, without reserve, and the answer will come from one of her own sex. Be one of the vast army of women who write to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., and preserve your health. "Only a woman can understand a woman's ills."

A prominent actress, in a letter to Mrs. Pinkham, says:—

". . . . You cannot imagine the fearful condition I was in when I first wrote to you. I was simply of no use to myself or any one else. I had worked hard, and my nervous system was shattered from womb trouble and travelling constantly. I ran the gauntlet of doctors' theories, till my health and money were rapidly vanishing. . . . I'm all right now, and am gaining flesh daily. I follow your advice faithfully in everything. Thank you ten thousand times for what your knowledge and Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound have done for me."

THE NEW PREMIER

Has Called Five Members of His Cabinet.

CHAMBERLAIN IS TO BE THE SECRETARY.

It Was He Who Wrecked Rosebery's Cabinet.

LONDON, June 26.—The Marquis of Salisbury has formally accepted the premiership made vacant by the resignation of Lord Rosebery.

Robert Arthur Talbot Gascoigne Cecil, third Marquis of Salisbury, was born in 1830, and married the daughter of the late Baron Alderson. He was educated at Oxford and is chancellor of that university. He has been twice secretary of state for India and twice secretary of state for foreign affairs. He was premier in 1885, and formed his second ministry in 1886. He resigned in 1892. He proceeded to Constantinople as a special ambassador at the conference there in November, 1876, and he and Lord Beaconsfield in 1878 were the representatives of Great Britain at the congress of Berlin.

Lord of the Treasury.

A. J. Balfour, Conservative leader in the house of commons, has been appointed first lord of the treasury in succession to Lord Rosebery, who held that position as well as the premiership.

A. J. Balfour, the first lord of the treasury, is a nephew of the Marquis of Salisbury, his mother being a daughter of the second Marquis of Salisbury and a sister of the present marquis. He was born in 1848, and was educated at Eaton and at Cambridge. He was appointed president of the local board government in 1885, and was secretary for Scotland, with a seat in the cabinet, from 1886 to 1887; he became chief secretary for Ireland on the resignation of Michael Hicks-Beach in 1887, and retained that position until 1891, when, upon the death of William H. Smith, he became first lord of the treasury and leader of the house of commons, retaining that position until 1892, when the Salisbury government resigned. He was elected lord rector of St. Andrew's university in 1887, of Glasgow university in 1890, and was elected lord chancellor of the University of Edinburgh in 1891.

Joseph Chamberlain, the Unionist leader, has been appointed to succeed the Marquis of Ripon as

Secretary of State For the Colonies.

Joseph Chamberlain is one of the foremost and most daring men in British politics at the present time. He is credited with having engineered the downfall of the Rosebery government, and is undoubtedly a man of great political ability. He was born in London in 1836, and has been married three times, his present wife being a daughter of W. C. Endicott, formerly secretary of war of the United States. He was educated at the University college, London, was formerly a manufacturer in Birmingham, and retired from business in 1874. Mr. Chamberlain was three times successfully elected mayor of Birmingham, and was appointed president of the board of trade in 1880 and president of the local government board in 1886, resigning the latter posts shortly afterward. In August, 1887, he was appointed one of the commissioners to settle the fisheries dispute with the United States, and is a fellow of the Royal society.

The other members thus far chosen are: Duke of Devonshire, president of the council.

Michael Hicks-Beach, chancellor of the exchequer.

George J. Goschen, first lord of the admiralty.

The other members of the government have not yet been fixed upon.

Fighting Joe's Tactics.

Joseph Chamberlain, "Fighting Joe," as he used to be called in parliament about the time he deserted Gladstone, sprung the trap which caught the Rosebery ministry. Originally he was a Liberal, battling valiantly against the Tories under Gladstone in whose second cabinet he was president of the board of trade.

Chamberlain led the advanced Radical wing until shortly after the formation of Gladstone's third ministry, in which he was president of the local government board, he quarreled with his chief over home rule and quit the Liberal ranks. Then he formed the Liberal-Union party, which he now leads in parliament.

This party, after seceding from the Liberal party, on account of the Irish question, formed an alliance with the Conservatives or Tory party. Chamberlain aspired to the leadership of the alliance. Having held the balance of power under the Gladstone and Rosebery governments, he just now holds in his hands, he seems to believe, the fate of the Tory government about to be installed.

The Conservatives wanted a general election before taking control of the government, in order to find out just how strong Chamberlain is with the people. Then they could gauge the amount of patronage necessary to be given to him.

They calculate upon capturing a lot of Liberal-Unionist seats, thinking that the members of the Liberal-Unionist party have been in the Conservative fold so long many, if not most, are ready to become straight-out Tories. It was just this sort of rest that Chamberlain sought to avoid, it is presumed, by overturning the Liberal government as he did.

McCarthy's Manifesto.

Justin McCarthy has issued a manifesto to the people of Ireland stating that the defeat of the government has placed Ireland's bitterest enemies in office. "For a brief space before the election," the manifesto says, "Downing street and Dublin castle will be occupied by men pledged to the policy of coercion in Ireland. This defeat was compassed by the factionists, who still divide Ireland, and by the votes of the Chamberlains, the Russells and other false friends of land reform." Advocating the continuance of the alliance with the Liberal party as Ireland's only hope of redress, the manifesto appeals earnestly to Irishmen at home and abroad for funds with which to fight their enemies in the coming election campaign.

A great deal of interest during the present crisis centers in the course which Mr. Gladstone will decide to adopt. His secretary, when questioned on the subject, said that the great Liberal leader does not intend to issue a manifesto. He will remain in town for a few days, and will then go to Hawarden. Mr. Gladstone spent the morning in disposing of an accumulation of letters, and in the afternoon he visited the British museum.

Careless Use of a Pistol.

WATERBURY, June 26.—The Turners were parading last night. Mrs. Wiedman was watching the parade from a third story window, when a pistol was fired, and she was fatally wounded. James W. Cook was placed under arrest and may be charged with the responsibility for the shooting.

INSTRUCTIVE HOUSEHOLD TALK

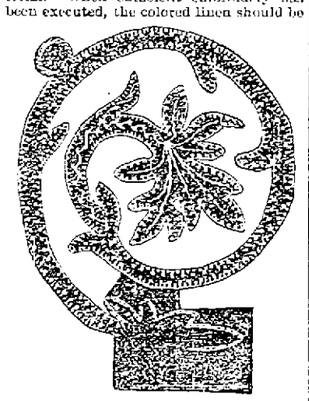

APPLIQUE EMBROIDERY VERY MUCH IN FAVOR.

This Form of Decorative Needle Work is Especially Adapted to Colored Linens—Wall Curtains—When You Spill Ink—Nice for a Picnic Luncheon.

The colored linens are enjoying a great deal of favor just now, and certainly they are a boon to dwellers in towns, with whom the white work so soon becomes soiled by fogs and smuts. Many of the white linen goods to be had in the shops are made up with corners and hems of the colored material, but if the article needed is to be made entirely of the colored fabric it is very economical to buy this by the yard and to make it up after embroidering it.

Applique ought not to be overlooked now that colored linens have been brought to such perfection. Charming heraldic designs have lately been brought out made of pale blue linen laid upon white and intended to be outlined and partially filled in with embroidery stitches. The worker of average intelligence should find no difficulty in managing a simple form of applique for herself. If she irons off a bold transfer pattern upon the colored linen, all she has to do, according to a writer in Cassell's Magazine, is to lay this upon a white material and to tack it well into place. The outlines on the tinted fabric should then be worked closely with buttonhole stitch, the straight edge of which should set toward the outside of the design, without exception. The stitches should all be taken through both materials.

A few open fillings, dots and lace stitches are a great improvement and tend to greatly enrich the work, though at the same time these must not be made so closely together as to entirely cover the colored material. When sufficient embroidery has been executed, the colored linen should be cut away beyond the outlines of the design, and now will be seen the utility of the buttonhole stitch in preventing the cut margins from raveling. The general effect of this simple kind of applique may be judged from the portion of a border sketched by the authority quoted, where there is a scroll of bright turkey twill applique to a background of ecru colored linen. The embroidery here is executed in white. There are many more elaborate forms of this class of work, but few that are more effective.

APPLIQUE ON LINEN.

Wall Curtains.

A pretty fashion has been introduced lately of a wall curtain hanging at the back of a divan or an upright piano. These curtains of course must be made to afford an agreeable contrast to the walls on which they hang. Decorator and Furnisher describes them as about a yard and a quarter deep and a little more than two yards wide. On an olive green wall a curtain of bright yellow pongee is very pretty. A pale blue curtain looks well on a wall of Pompeian red.

A little blue silk curtain, trimmed with silver fringe and suspended by silver rings from a slender silver rod is most effective behind a rosewood piano, and where there is a pink effect on the walls. Some of these curtains are made of Japanese stuffs and some of plush. In a somber room a wall curtain of yellow or gold colored silk lights up wonderfully well and gives a charming tone to the whole room.

When You Spill Ink.

Should you spill ink upon the carpet or upon a woolen tablecloth immediately sprinkle over it a thick layer of common salt, remarks an exchange. When this has absorbed all the ink that it can, carefully scrape it off and apply some more. Keep doing this until the ink is taken up. If your carpet has an ink spot upon it that you didn't know how to attack at the time of the accident, moisten it with hot water. Be careful not to use enough water to make the ink spread. Then apply the salt. Your success will not be complete, but the spot will become dim, and perhaps will not be noticeable.

Nice For a Picnic Luncheon.

Take cold eggs which have been cooked for 25 minutes, chop the whites very fine and mash each yolk with a teaspoonful of butter. Then mix the whites and yolks, seasoning to taste. A little lemon juice may be added to the taste. Spread a slice of bread evenly with the egg mixture, a similar slice with butter and press the two together. The sandwiches should be covered with a napkin to prevent drying.

Asparagus on Toast.

Tie the stalks in bundles, keeping the heads one way, and cut off the stalks so that they may be of equal length. Put these into well salted boiling water and cook till tender, but no longer. Have ready some thin slices of toast. Drain the asparagus and arrange upon the toast and pour over it a good white sauce.

Baked Onions.

Boil in salted water one-half hour, lift out with a drain spoon and lay them closely together in a pan, salt and pepper, also a generous lump of butter on each onion; bake in a hot oven one-half hour, when they should be both tender and browned.

Grenadines and Gauzes.

Black grenadines, with bold chine flowers, make excellent summer dresses, and so do the summer gauzes. The coloring is exquisite grass green, brilliant fuchsia, peach, etc. There is a large range of checked grenadines and crepe. Gauzes and crepons, as well as chiffon, have been embroidered in the open hole work. Velvet gauzes are back again on shot grounds, the patterns floral and bold and gauze soutache with well covering patterns in upstanding cord is used greatly for capes; so are the black silk grenadines. The new mousseline with the satin face is the best of all materials to show off the new colors.

A Departure.

"I guess," said the man with a political boom, "that it's time for me to attract some attention; to show a little originality and bring myself in to the popular mind on a conspicuous footing."

"How are you going to do it?" inquired his wife.

"I'll go away from home and admit to the newspaper men that my visit has some political significance."—Washington Star.

A Conference Held This Morning Leaves Matters More Strained Than Ever.

A meeting of a committee of twenty strikers was held this morning and Agent Clark was notified that the strikers wanted to confer with him. He consented but was firm in his determination that the operatives must return at the old wages or not at all.

The conference ended without result further than to make the situation more strained than ever. The strikers now find that Mr. Clark will not modify his decision and they are more determined than ever to fight the battle to the end. The operatives will hold out as long as possible and many of them will find work elsewhere. This is bad news for Billerica.

MATRIMONIAL.

Atwood-Cheney.

A charming June wedding in fashionable life occurred this morning at 10.30 o'clock in the Eliot church when Miss Lola Cheney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland J. Cheney, and Mr. William P. Atwood, the well known chemist, were made man and wife by Rev. J. M. Greene, D. D., pastor of the church.

In honor of the happy event the interior of the church was adorned with flowers and potted plants and the air was redolent with the delicate scent of roses. The friends of the happy couple attended the ceremony in large numbers the fair ones being strikingly gowned.

Mr. E. K. Baldwin presided at the organ and as he discoursed the tender strains of Lohengren, the bridal party repaired slowly to the altar. The bridal procession was led by the ushers followed by the bridesmaid, Miss Charlotte M. Cheney, niece of the bride, the latter following on the arm of Mr. Zelby of New York city. They were met at the altar by the groom, supported by his best man, Mr. Nelson. The ceremony was brief but impressive, the bride was given away by her father.

At the conclusion of the ceremony the glad peals of Mendellsohn's wedding march burst forth and the bridal party filed from the church to the carriages.

The bride was becomingly attired in a traveling suit of brown crepon, trimmed with lace, carrying roses. The pretty bridesmaid was charmingly gowned in pink organdie muslin and carried pink carnations.

Among the many out of town guests were: Mr. Charles W. Cheney of Manchester, N. H.; Mrs. Roach and Mr. Wm. Roach of Hillsboro, N. H., Mrs. Everett Durfee of Fall River, Mrs. L. W. Faulkner of Billerica, Mrs. F. B. Wilde of Somerville, Miss Frances Cadwell of Roxbury, Miss Atwood and Mrs. Crocker of Melrose, Mrs. J. M. Battles of East Boston, and Mr. and Mrs. Zelby of New York.

The ushers were Col. Fred Walsh, Mr. James Bayles, Mr. Albert S. Guild, and Mr. Frank A. Philbrick, all of Lowell.

Amid a shower of rice the happy couple departed on their wedding tour and upon their return will reside on Harding street where they will be at home, Thursday, October 10 and 17.

By order of the town of Dracut, 25 excellent lots of land, for investment, improvement or speculation, on Humphrey and Willard streets; Emerson, Arlington and Arthur avenues. Next Saturday, promptly at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, and without the least limit or reserve of any kind whatsoever, we shall sell to the highest bidders the splendid house lots as above located. By Willard street the lots are only four or five minutes walk to the electric cars at the junction of Bridge, Nineteenth, Billings and Willard streets. By Emerson avenue the lots are only three or four minutes walk to the electric cars. The lots have from 4256 to 8514 square feet frontages from 45 to 150 feet. Some of them are very high and sightly; all are clean, dry and desirable; are attractive to build upon and very pleasantly situated for nice homes; they are only five or seven minutes ride from the corner of Merrimack and Bridge streets, a little over a mile from the corner of Merrimack and Central streets, as a matter of fact, about the same distance away as the Franklin school on Middlesex street, the Pawtucket bridge, or Davis corner. Eight choice corner lots. You can get a small plan of the lots at the office of the auctioneers, J. L. Conant & Co. It has been said to you a number of times since the first of last April that this is the year to buy real estate, and if you watch the conservative real estate investors and speculators you know that they have been the largest and heaviest buyers this season. You cannot find a safer, surer or more solid investment. Why don't you attend the sale and buy a lot? It won't take much money. That's just what men in Lowell who got rich handling real estate have done before and are doing today—buying lots a little way out.

Per order,
R. S. FOX,
GRANVILLE COBURN,
NICHOLAS GALLAGHER,
Commissioners for the town of Dracut.

The Game Elsewhere.

BOSTON, June 25.—The last game of the present series with New York resulted in a victory for Boston. Frank Sexton officiated for the home team and was in great form. The visitors opened on him quite hard, scoring two in the first inning. After that they failed to get a run or a hit until the seventh. They made four hits in the last three innings, but could not score. The big hitters were puzzled, and Sexton was monarch of all he surveyed.

WEDDED PRINCESS HELENE.

Duke of Aosta Takes a Wife From the House of Orleans.

LONDON, June 26. — Prince Emanuel, Duke of Aosta, was married yesterday at St. Raphael's Catholic church, Thames, to Princess Helene of Orleans, second daughter of the late Count of Paris.

DUKE OF AOSTA. PRINCESS HELENE.

The Duke of Aosta is the eldest son of the late Prince Amadeo, Duke of Aosta and ex-King of Spain, by his first wife, Princess Maria dal Pozzo della Cisterna, and is 24 years old. His step-mother is the youthful and beautiful Princess Letitia, whose gay pranks recently drew upon her King Humbert's displeasure. She is at the same time niece and sister-in-law of the king, and a special dispensation from the pope was, of course, obtained when she married her uncle, the late duke. Her step-son, the present duke, is a handsome young man and holds a commission in the Italian army as colonel of the Fifth regiment of artillery.

Princess Helene of Orleans is the second daughter of the late Count of Paris, who died last September, and is in her 24th year. She is golden-haired, blue-eyed, tall and very lovely. She is a magnificent equestrienne, swims like a fish, shoots with unerring aim and is most skilful with the scalls and foils—and all this without sacrificing any of her dainty femininity of Parisian elegance.

A Difference of Opinion.

KINGSTON, June 26. — A dispute has arisen here between the American and Spanish consuls regarding the steamer Bridgeton, which put in here in a half-wrecked condition, which her captain said was due to her having encountered a severe storm. The Spanish consul here alleges that the Bridgeton is a filibusterer, while the American consul and the captain and crew of the Bridgeton strenuously deny it. The British government has refused to take any action against the Bridgeton, on the ground that no evidence has been brought which shows that she is a filibusterer.

SOUND MONEY MEN

Get the Better of Silverites at the Kentucky Democratic Convention.

LOUISVILLE, June 26.—The administration and Secretary Carlisle were certainly favorites in the Democratic state convention.

The silverites went into the district meetings in the morning and into the convention at noon with confidence. In the district meetings they were beaten two to one. They claimed four out of the 11 district members of the committee on resolutions, but the administration men claim that the committee stood eight to three originally against free silver, and as completed nine to four. The completion of this committee could not have been changed by the appointment of both members-at large from the silverites.

Between Judge Breckner, as temporary chairman, divided the members-at-large, giving one of the two to each side, the silver men felt that they had been outclassed, although they would not confess to being outnumbered. They claimed a victory in the election of Breckner over Stone, but after the former divided the appointments equally on all the committees and announced his conservative views, no claims were made on him.

Stone would have appointed only "sound money" men on the committees. Judge Breckner is a "sound money" man, but favored General Hardin for governor. Although General Hardin favors free coinage, he has been supported throughout by many who insist on a sound money platform.

The feature of the day was the defeat in his home district of Senator J. S. C. Blackburn, for member of the committee on resolutions, by Arthur Yeager, a man of pronounced gold standard views, but who has devoted his time to college work and not to politics.

Senator Blackburn aspired to the chairmanship of this committee, and expected to have a majority of its members with him for free coinage and against Cleveland and Carlisle.

THAT DEADLOCK

Broken at the Meeting of Last Night.

Election of William F. Curtin a Democratic Victory.

Councilman Coward Dared to Cut the Cordian Knot Despite Opposition.

COUNCILMAN GARVEY MADE A PROPOSITION TO REPUBLICANS, IT WAS REJECTED.

The $800,000 Loan Passed—Committees on Finance and Accounts Elected.

It is President Curtin of the common council.

With a look of determination and with just the slightest sign of worry evident on his countenance, Councilman Goward arose in the council chamber, last evening, and declared his intention of voting for a democrat for president of the common council.

This was glad tidings and called forth an outburst of applause from the democratic side of the house. Councilman Goward made his declaration after the fourth ballot, and carried out his purpose on the tenth.

Clerk Simonds could not get the council together till 9.15, although a majority of the members were at city hall before 8 o'clock.

The roll was called and it was announced that Councilman Reynolds and Sanborn had paired. Balloting for president commenced immediately and four ballots were taken with the following result:

First—Barry 11, Hartwell 11.
Second—Garvey 11, Hartwell 11.
Third—Maguire 11, Hartwell 11.
Fourth—Mansfield 11, Hartwell 11.

Then Mr. Goward got the floor and made his famous declaration that broke the deadlock, preluding it with a few remarks in which he stated that it was time to stop fooling and transact public business.

The next ballot was declared null and void because 23 votes had been cast. It was the same on the next and then Councilman Curtin moved that in all future ballots the councilmen pass before the clerk and deposit their ballots.

Councilman Garvey thought the idea a good one. "But," said he, "I believe we are wasting time. If the republicans will give us city clerk and city treasurer they can have the presidency, or give us the latter and they can take clerk and treasurer."

He then moved as an amendment that a recess of 15 minutes be taken to effect a compromise.

Councilman Curtin opposed the amendment as he believed that every proposition that could be made had been rejected, and that a conference was made impossible because of the action of one man.

The amendment was ruled out of order and the orignal motion passed. Then the members filed up and placed their ballots in the box at the clerk's desk. Hartwell and Delehanty each had 11 votes.

Councilman Garvey then addressed the council, and stated that he had been given assurance that if a republican president is elected, the democrats can have a clerk and treasurer. "That being the case," he said, "I give notice that I shall vote for Mr. Hartwell."

The councilmen looked at each other and it was so quiet that one might hear a pin drop in the chamber. Then another ballot was taken and sure enough Mr. Garvey voted for Hartwell, but there was no choice Hartwell having 10, Gormley 10 and Rivet 2.

Then Mr. Garvey arose and made a statement that called forth applause. "It is evident to me," he said, "that the republicans are not anxious to do business. I do not propose to stand in the way of electing a democratic friend."

Following Mr. Garvey came Mr. Hartwell who very briefly stated that he refused longer to be a candidate. He said that all year he had been endeavoring to arrange a compromise to break the deadlock but he found some people opposed to everything.

Councilman Riley said he too had been laboring to break the deadlock, and he believed the only solution was to keep on balloting.

The next ballot resulted, Hunton 1, Goward 1, Rivet 3, Hartwell 6 and Gormley 11.

Then it came out this way, Miskella 11, Rivet 5, Goward 3, Hartwell 2, Hunton 1.

The following ballot showed 11 for Reynolds, 8 for Rivet and 3 scattering.

Curtin Elected.

The next ballot brought a democratic victory with it. It was Curtin's now and when the committee retired to count the ballots, the result was awaited patiently. Scarcely had the last ballot been reached when a noise and loud talk from the committee room, conveyed the good news. Curtin had received the democratic strength and with the aid of Councilman Goward, and it is said Webster, was chosen to the presidency. The ballot stood, Curtin 13, Rivet 8, Morse 1.

On motion of Councilman Hounsell the ballots were preserved.

President Curtin was escorted to the chair by Messrs. Hartwell, Mansfield and Webster and made one of those pretty little speeches for which he has already acquired a reputation. He said:

"I thank you even at this eleventh hour. To be selected for this position, second only to the chief magistracy of the city, any man may be pardoned for being proud."

I accept, cognizant of its responsibilities as well as honor, and to take away not one jot from its dignity, to preserve its reputation for fairness and impartiality and to add to is within the range of my humble possibilities its power for good, will to me be a pleasurable task. And in this work I ask the earnest and honest co-operation of each and every member.

Almost six months have now passed since we first assembled in this chamber as members of the government of '95, and commenced the struggle for supremacy in organization, and while each side hung tenaciously to political opinion, not an unkind word passed or strained relations existed between the members that I am aware of beyond what might reasonably be expected.

This augurs well for the future conduct of this council. It means, if it means anything, now that the great obstacle to the transaction of business has been removed only a reasonable length of time will be devoted to partisan struggle and that the greater work, the needs of the city and the wants of the people, will be speedily and economically attended to.

The speech was received with applause and was pronounced a "dandy" by republicans and democrats alike.

Appropriation Resolution Passed.

The rules of the common council and the city council were adopted.

Under a suspension of the rules the resolution to pay approved bills, passed. The resolution to borrow $800,000 then took its first reading.

Councilman Morse claimed the attention of the chair and moved that it be laid on the table till the next meeting. The motion was lost, and the question came on passing the resolution to a second reading.

Mr. Rivet said he wanted to see the resolution go through with the amount smaller. The $800,000 is what the republicans object to, and if the amount is lessened, it will be passed.

Mr. Riley said that there was no sense in electing a president and then refusing to appropriate this money. The money will not be all borrowed at once, but it will come as it is needed.

Mr. Delehanty did not believe in delaying matters by sending this resolution back to the aldermen in an amended form.

Mr. Webster did not think $800,000 was needed and wanted the amount made $500,000.

Mr. Miskella reminded the council that the money will be borrowed under the direction of the finance committee and if it is not needed it will not be borrowed. The resolution was given final passage by a vote of 13 to 9. Rivet and Oliver voting with the democrats.

Balloting for a finance committee was then commenced and Dickson got 16, Maguire 4; O'Day 3, Goward 2, Garvey 1, Hunton 1.

Another ballot was taken without a choice, and then a recess was voted.

After recess four more ballots were taken without a choice.

An order was adopted making the meeting nights of the council the second and fourth Tuesday of each month.

At this point a recess was taken for luncheon, and it was one o'clock before the members came together again.

A ballot was taken for a member of the finance committee and David Dickson was was elected, receiving 17 votes. He will be chairman of the committee.

On the next ballot Councilman Maguire received 20 votes and was declared elected.

President Curtin announced as a committee on accounts Councilmen Reynolds, Oliver and Garvey.

The council then adjourned till tomorrow evening.

The Morning Mail's Opinion.

The untangling of the muddle is a consummation which has been devoutly wished for months, and to those most directly interested in the solution of the question it mattered but little how it was brought about. But to the republicans at large the election of a democrat will be looked upon as a defeat in one of the bitterest partisan fights in our municipal history and it will not be strange if Councilman Goward, who is a self-confessed apostate from party fealty, and the second republican who is positively known, are marked men in the future.

But it must be borne in mind that no election could be had unless somebody broke, and he or they would be sure to receive the abuse of their party coadjutors and without discussing the merits of this feature of the case, it may be said in Councilman Goward's favor that he made no secret of his intention, but openly avowed it and acted accordingly.

SCHOOLS CLOSED

Interesting Graduating Exercises by Pupils.

THE PUBLIC AND PAROCHIAL MAKE GOOD SHOWING.

High and Grammar Schools, Sacred Heart and St. Michael's.

Of late years, owing to the many numbers on the program for the High school graduating exercises it has been found necessary to divide the program into two parts. The first portion of the exercises has generally been held on the day preceding that of graduation and while the attendance has not been quite so large as at the regular exercises held in Huntington hall still the program is always of equal merit.

Yesterday afternoon the opening of this year's exercises was held in the High school hall, which was crowded. The stage was set with pretty potted plants which formed a beautiful border around the raised platform.

Most of the participants were the young ladies of the school, in fact out of the 16 numbers in only 5 did any of the young men take part.

The singing was excellent, in fact every number on the program was worthy of great praise.

The selections were as follows:

Varnum School.

The Varnum school exercises were held in Odd Fellows' hall, Centralville to-day. The program was rather a lengthy one, but interesting and entertaining throughout.

Mr. Burn's address was greatly appreciated by the pupils. He reminded those who were about to graduate, of the work before them and urged the undergraduates to strive to attain a high standard in their studies. The program was as follows:

The graduation exercises at the Moody school always attract large audiences and the attendance this morning was no exception. The efforts of the young boys and girls called for considerable praise and a proficiency remarkably fine for children of a grammar school, was displayed in each and every selection.

The program was as follows: Songs, The Herd-bells, The Cuckoos Call; declamation, Poor Voter on Election Day, Brabrook Walsh; declamation, The Last Leaf, May Eveleth; composition, Evangeline, Florence Gray; piano solo, Grace Pierce; song, O'er the Waters Gliding; declamation, Brutus' speech, Lilian Conant; composition, The Legend Beautiful, read by Jessie Sargent; declamation, Part of Anthony's Speech, Charles Stevens; autoharp, Robert Faulkner; song, Now the Evening Hour is Closing; declamation, The Lost Leader, Mary Reilly; declamation, Part of Antony's Speech, Dana Whipple; class prophecy, Charles Stevens, Robert Faulkner, Dana Whipple, read by Leslie Coggeshall; song, Now the Twilight Softly Stealing; presentation of diplomas by Thomas P. The class ode was as follows:

What have you brought? What work have wrought?
O years, forgotten never!
Each passing day goes on its way.
Its record stands forever;
And wasted leaves
Or garnered sheaves.
The record changeth never.

The steadfast soul must reach the goal,
Life's highest end attaining,
Through noble aims, unselfish claims,
The losing that is gaining,
So shall life's close
Find sweet repose
From work well done remaining.

St. Michael's School.

Among the most entertaining of the local annual school commencements was that of St. Michael's parochial school of Centralville which although established but six years is now one of the foremost institutions of its kind in the city.

The attendance filled St. Michael's church to the doors, last evening at the the closing exercises.

At 7.30 o'clock the curtain on the large stage rolled back, presenting the children of the school in holiday attire who were prettily introduced by Rev. Michael O'Brien, pastor of the church. Fr. O'Brien in his remarks dwelt upon the enormous and steady growth of the institution which is now one of the largest in the city and paid high tribute to the efficiency and zeal of the good Dominican sisters, congratulating also the children upon their diligent application to study with results creditable to themselves and gratifying to their teachers and friends.

At the conclusion of Fr. O'Brien's remarks, Charles Burns opened the exercises with an address of welcome, happily composed and admirably delivered.

Then followed the program which was surprisingly well carried out. The program was a treat and was thoroughly enjoyed by all. It was of a dramatic character, the chief feature being the drama entitled "Through the Fires of Sorrow."

Those who participated were: Etta Foye, Helen Fitzpatrick, Maude Gillespie, Margaret Callahan, Etta Monahan, Rosella McCluskey, Baby Furlong, Lydia Wood, Grace Donahue, Stannie O'Brien, Mary Leary and Mary Gallagher.

Next followed a farce "No Cure no Pay" by Mary Quinn, Mary Manning, Annie Joyce, Alice McAvoy, Annie Englesby, Agnes Sherry, Alice Hennessey.

Another after piece was "The Troubles of Little Ones" participated in by Katharine McDonough, Margaret Murray, Helen Thompson, Gertrude Doherty, Katharine Breen, Nellie Breen, Margaret Meagher, Zaphie Pollard, Ellen Morris, Alice Joyce, Alice Slowy.

There were other musical and literary features, all of which were highly enjoyed.

Among those present were Superintendent of Schools A. K. Whitcomb, School Committeemen Mulligan and Kelly, the clergy of St. Michael's, Rev. Frs. Burke, Gleason and Leonard of St. Patrick's; Rev. Fr. Shaw of North Chelmsford, and the Xaverian Brothers.

Owing to the meeting of the city government His Honor, Mayor Courtney, was unable to attend.

Sacred Heart School.

The closing exercises of the Sacred Heart school took place, last evening, in the school hall and were largely attended. The program was well selected and the children participating took their parts admirably. The program was as follows:

St. Patrick's Girls' School.

The closing exercises at St. Patrick's Girl's school and the distribution of prizes to the pupils of the academy and school occurred yesterday morning in the school hall, in presence of a large attendance.

Veterans

Of the war often need the toning, strengthening effects to be found in Hood's Sarsaparilla. Read this:

"My husband has suffered for years with catarrh, rheumatism and chronic diarrhœa contracted in the war. In the fall he had the grip and came near death's door. He could not eat or sleep and was much emaciated. One bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla did him so much good that he kept on taking it. He now has a good appetite and has gained in flesh. I think it saved my husband's life. I shall not be without it in my house hereafter. I know Hood's Sarsaparilla will do what is claimed for it." AMANDA CASTETTER, Mt. Jackson, Indiana.

QUICK KNOCK OUT

Gladstone Club's Meeting Ends Suddenly.

O'BRIEN WINS IN LESS THAN A MINUTE.

Interesting Preliminaries—Another Match Proposed.

"Man knocked down in first; took his time in getting up and was declared out" is the substance of a telegram sent by Jack McDonough's backer to Syracuse last night.

The telegram about covered the story.

The great O'Brien-McDonough contest at the Gladstone club was the quickest on record lasting about half aminute.

The trick was done so quickly that many didn't realize what had happened until the winner had been declared.

The bell rang; both went to the center, O'Brien rushing into McDonough and landing on his ribs. They came together and in the get away, O'Brien swung his right catching Jack under the left ear and down he went clean, O'Brien going against the ropes from the force of the blow.

McDonough stayed down crouching with hands and feet on the floor, O'Brien at his own corner.

Referee Scully is said to have lost his head and become rattled, so sudden was the turn of affairs. He counted the 10 seconds in undertone and at their termination declared O'Brien the winner.

Then there was excitement galore. Many were exceedingly wroth at the decision for McDonough was on his feet as fresh as ever immediately after and anxious to continue.

Some claim that Scully didn't count out 10 seconds: others that if he counted no one heard him.

Mr. Spencer, McDonough's backer, said that Scully should have stood up and counted so as to be heard by everyone, which is the custom in all big athletic clubs in America.

The spectators waited to see more boxing, and O'Brien offered to finish the eight rounds for fun, but McDonough wasn't boxing for fun and declined.

Then O'Brien started to leave the ring and was hissed. He was back in his seat in an instant and again offered to go on. "Mysterious" Billy Smith was called on to go with O'Brien, but he was obliged to decline, having met with a bad leg through an argument with a couple of Walcott's countrymen.

Both men left the ring and the 400 spectators went away greatly disappointed at not seeing eight hot rounds.

The men came in about 10 o'clock, O'Brien first. His sconds were "Mysterious" Billy Smith, Billy Hennessey, who fought Creedon Monday night, Prof. Kelly, his trainer, and Patsy Kerrigan, the Boston boxer.

A few minutes later McDonough came on with Tom Moriarty, Patsey Haley and Ed. Binney in his corner.

Both men fought at catch weights. McDonough weighed about 151 pounds and looked a trifle slim. O'Brien was in fine condition, perhaps somewhat fat and appeared the heavier of the two. The time keepers were Dan Murphy of Boston for O'Brien. Mr. Spencer of Syracuse for McDonough and Birge Pattee for the club.

Preceding the go Referee Scully gave the men instructions and said that the man having a decided advantage would be declared a winner.

Before the call of time, O'Brien said to his seconds: "I never felt more like boxing in my life."

One occurrence that struck a number as being peculiar and which is well to mention is the fact that while McDonough was down, Tom Moriarty reached a bottle of strong ammonia to his nose, causing Mac to shut his eyes for a few seconds, keeping him down as well. The action was well meant but it is extremely doubtful it did any good.

The preliminaries were very entertaining. Hooley and Chisholm went a six round draw for a starter. Then Elmer Arnold, the good natured Dracut boxer, bested Ralph Cullen in five rounds, doing all the damage in the last round.

The third preliminary was between Mike Sears of Lewiston who by the way is the half-brother of O'Brien and who looks and acts enough like him to be his twin, and Tommy Coburn of Boston. Sears can always be depended upon to put up an interesting go and he did last night having things his own way. The sports called Coburn a bluff with no license to put on the gloves but they did him an injustice for had it not been to entertain them he would not have gone on. Coburn is 35 years old and has been against Dixon, Griffin and others. His wife died quite recently leaving some small children depending upon Tommy. He came here to work and made arrangements for the go with Sears. Last night as he sat in the dressing room he received a telegram stating that his youngest child had died and had been buried yesterday afternoon. Under those circumstances a man should be excused for poor work and admired for going in at all.

There were about 400 present including many out-of-town men. Pres. Wescott of the Suffolk club, "Handsome" Dan Murphy, Nelson Innes and Arthur Crowthers were among the Boston sports present.

After the meeting McDonough called on O'Brien at the Harris house and got the latter's consent to another match. Mr. Spencer will post the forfeit today.

TREAS'R CLARK

Of the Talbot Mills Issues a Manifesto

ANNOUNCING HIS INTENTION TO OPEN MILLS.

Sent to Each of the Strikers This Morning.

The following communication has been issued by Treasurer Clark of the Talbot mills, N. Billerica:

NORTH BILLERICA, June 26, 1895.

As communications through a committee are liable, even with the best intentions on the part of the committee, to be misunderstood, we take this method of stating the exact position of the company.

It has always been our desire to treat our employes fairly and considerately, and in making the recent advance in wages we were influenced by the same spirit. The advance was not made the same to all, for the reason that the scale adopted was thought to be more equitable and just to all our employes than a uniform advance would have been. Comparisons with several mills, made since the shut-down, convince us that the scale, as a whole, was not only fair, but liberal.

With less haste and more consideration on the part of our employes, some of the points which have been brought to our attention could have been adjusted. As it is, we feel that the company has not been treated with the consideration which past relations deserved.

The mill will start on Monday, July 1, provided a sufficient number of those who left their work notify overseers or at office that they wish to return. This notification must be given not later than next Friday. The rate of wages will be at the advance announced previous to the shutdown. The company holds itself ready to make another advance when business conditions warrant it, and then due consideration will be given to claims as to inequalities.

TALBOT MILLS,
FREDERIC S. CLARK, Treasurer.

The strikers will hold a meeting tomorrow afternoon to discuss the proposition.

Now for a celebration of the Glorious Fourth.

THERE WERE two great knockouts last night, one at the Gladstone club, the other at the common council chamber.

A COUPLE of republican councilmen last night did what should have been done on January 1 in electing a democratic president of the common council.

PRINCIPAL BACHELDER of the Green school has made a good departure in securing the advice of prominent men for the benefit of the graduating class. Some of the maxims laid down for their guidance are invaluable if followed.

THE DEADLOCK BROKEN.

The deadlock is broken, it is smashed to flitterjigs, it is dead and buried never to be resurrected except as a reminiscence.

The democrats have won after a long and hard fought battle.

The top of the morning to you President Curtin.

So the republicans came around to our way of thinking after all.

Wonder if they will try the quo warranto proceedings upon you.

Councilman Goward was the prime mover in the act.

Councilman Sanborn had paired. He was sick of the whole business as were many others.

But now all is well.

The republicans can go ahead and take the offices within their grasp.

But Councilman Goward and somebody else—some say it was Hartwell, some say Dennison—voted for Curtin. Nobody will blame you Mr. President if you do the square thing by them. They deserve it.

Councilman Goward is a gentleman and a scholar.

His action will be appreciated and applauded by the bulk of our population.

In voting for Mr. Curtin he was not putting down republicans and elevating democrats, he was making business possible and it was to transact the city's business he was elected.

Of course all the others were elected for precisely the same purpose but somehow they could not agree to act as a unit, and between democrats and republicans Councilman Goward was the first to bridge the chasm.

Over that bridge at least a couple of republican office seekers can cross to the goal of their ambition unless some serious obstruction be raised in their way, but now that the deadlock is broken all will be peace and harmony until the republicans assume control next year.

The council, last night, showed its solicitude for the teachers, the police officers and the firemen, who have received no pay for many months, by passing the $400,000 loan.

The city council, having done practically nothing thus far, must now put twelve months business into the five remaining months of the year.

All the outstanding bills must be paid. There will be a terrific rush on the treasury as soon as that temporary loan has been made available.

Work will be started where it should have been commenced long ago and who can tell but we may yet have a Fourth of July celebration. There is not a doubt that the present councilmen can expedite business if they see fit.

They have an opportunity to distinguish themselves for celerity as they have done for dilatoriness.

If the republican councilmen will only concur with their democratic colleagues and if the aldermen will concur with the lower board there will be no trouble and the city's business will be transacted so far as public necessity demands. The deadlock has passed into history.

Business.

Just as the surly man had for the twentieth time repulsed the life insurance agent a brick scow collided with the ferryboat, and the passengers were thrown into the water.

"Can you swim?" asked the agent, maintaining a finger in his victim's buttonhole.

"N-no," spluttered the surly man, wildly beating the water. "Oh, save me!"

"Promise to try one of our 15 year non-slipyable tontine policies," demanded the agent.

"I—I promise," gurgled the surly man as he was sinking for the last time.

And inside of two minutes the agent had him on the wharf and was filling out an application.—New York Recorder.

THE CHURCH AND MAMMON.

Terrible Arraignment of the Ministry by a Methodist Clergyman.

The following is taken from a paper written by Rev. F. F. Passmore, a member of the Colorado conference of the Methodist Episcopal church. It was published in Our Nation's Crisis of Denver, and was addressed particularly to the young men in the forthcoming conference. The portion here given is mild and conservative compared with other parts of the latter, which was the most radical production of its kind in recent years, and gave the names of the chief transgressors "right out in meetin'."

The time has come when every true minister of the Methodist Episcopal church, from our bishops down, must take a stand squarely on God's word for justice, purity and truth. It is enough to make night and sin themselves blush to see how the ministry, including our bishops, are pandering to the world, and upholding crime and criminals.

From the sermons coming from our pulpits today it would seem as if our leading preachers had not the faintest idea of the nature of the divine mission to which they claim to have been called.

There is nothing in the world so powerful and effective as a consecrated, sanctified, spiritual, live and courageous pulpit. On the other hand, there is nothing so pale, so cumbersome, so weak, so lifeless, so contemptible, so useless and so cowardly as a man serving, time serving, money seeking ministry. A ministry that is so far lost to the spirit of the Master that it can preach to please the rich and the corrupt who are violating every law of God and desecrating every sacred right of man is in a condition that should arouse a sleeping church and slumbering age. Just as the preachers stood for the divine right of kings in the days of Cromwell and for the king and the nobility in the days preceding the French revolution and upheld the slaveholder in the antislavery struggle, so our bishops, elders, editors, college professors and the pastors of our great churches are standing by the rich and supporting them in outraging the poor.

If the Bible teaches anything on the subject of the ministry, it teaches that those who go to the world with this message of salvation are to give up the world, its wealth, its honor, its care, its glory, and be wholly consecrated to the welfare of mankind. The true, the loyal, the courageous watchman warns against all danger. The good shepherd looks after all the interests of the lambs and sheep. It was the great unwashed multitudes that Jesus, beholding in pity and compassion, said, "They are as sheep without a shepherd." The average man pleasing sermons of today on some effete subject of the past, or some irrelevant subject of the faraway future, will no more feed and satisfy humanity than they will the sheep. When Jesus said, "Feed my lambs, feed my sheep," he meant that his shepherds should take particular care in looking after the interests of humanity, as the shepherds care for their sheep, not looking after the rich and strong and favored ones and neglecting the poor and weak and sick and dying, not giving all their attention to Capitol hill and letting the people on the river go to perdition. The trouble with our age is that Christ is not being preached in our great churches by our great preachers. I mean just what I say—Christ is not being preached in one of the great Methodist churches from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

Great churches in whose pulpits stand men sending forth peals of impassioned oratory for the pleasure of a few rich and favored, and never a word for the thousands of poor, hungry and cold of humanity, who have been brought to this distress by the very men who are sitting enraptured by such eloquence, is about as far from being the true spirit of Christ as heaven is from hell. Some women and children picking up coal in the great rich city of Denver to keep from freezing, while other women and children in the same city are worshiping (?) God in a $250,000 Methodist church only a few blocks away, with the added luxury of soul enravishing music from a $30,000 organ. Does any sane man, saint or sinner, believe for a moment that either of these pictures—the one on the river, or the other on Capitol hill—is the product of true Christianity? If the people in the bottoms were not so poor, the people on the hill would not be so rich. If the people on the hill were not so rich, the people in the bottoms would not be so poor. Yet we have D. D.'s and schools of theology that are teaching that both these conditions are the results of Christianity.

Duty of the Individual.

Workingmen have great confidence in the power of organization, the existence of many labor societies being proof of that fact. But while perfecting these organizations they must remember that the strength and prosperity of the movement rest with the individual. There is no power in the best of organizations if the individuals composing it are weak and vacillating. The best help that can be given to the trades union movement is individual effort, each member seeking to promote a spirit of comradeship and cultivating a desire to supplement and assist every effort for the betterment of the human family.—Harry Franklin.

"Goin a-fishin?" he said to a passenger on a Woodward avenue car who had something suspiciously like a jointed rod in a cloth cover.

"Yes," was the brief reply.

"Expect any luck?"

"No."

"Don't expect to catch a single fish, eh?"

"No."

"Nor get a bite?"

"No."

"Not as much as a nibble?"

"No."

"And yet you'll go a-fishin?"

"Yes."

"So'll I. Cur'us, ain't it?"

"I needn't wish you luck, for you won't catch a blamed thing."

"HELP!"

A WOMAN'S DESPAIRING CRY.

It is Heard. A Prominent Actress Escapes Great Danger.

[SPECIAL TO OUR LADY READERS.]

How startling is a woman's cry for help!

"What can I do? Where shall I go?" She cry goes out city, town, and hamlet in this country.

It comes from women who are suffering tortures of body and mind from some form of female complaint. Many, through natural modesty, do not consult physicians, for many dread their examinations. They know not where to seek for help.

This alarming condition of things is simply wrong. The peculiar ailments of women are curable, and in most cases very speedily. Lydia E. Pinkham's genius and liberality have given to every woman a sure and consistent means of relief.

No woman should suffer when she can obtain free advice. She can state her case fully to Mrs. Pinkham, woman to woman, without reserve, and the answer will come from one of her own sex. Be one of the vast army of women who write to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., and preserve your health. "Only a woman can understand a woman's ills."

A prominent actress, in a letter to Mrs. Pinkham, says:—

". . . You cannot imagine the fearful condition I was in when I first wrote to you. I was simply of no use to myself or any one else. I had worked hard, and my nervous system was shattered from womb trouble and travelling constantly. I ran the gauntlet of doctors' theories, till my health and money were rapidly vanishing. . . . I'm all right now, and am gaining flesh daily. I follow your advice faithfully in everything. Thank you ten thousand times for what your knowledge and Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound have done for me."

Sensational Double Tragedy in French Capital.

WIFE'S LOVE FOR HER HUSBAND SHOWN.

In Her Suicide Following His Example.

PARIS, June 26.—Mme. Carre was formally the wife of a Vienna banker named Balitzer. She employed M. Carre as counsel to obtain a divorce from Balitzer. The acquaintance thus formed resulted in her marrying Carre. The latter, however, had an intrigue with a married woman, whose husband threatened to get him disbarred from practice.

Carre induced him to agree to a duel instead, whereupon the woman informed Mme. Carre of the intended duel with a view to preventing it. Carre entered the room while the woman was revealing the affair, and gathering from his wife's countenance that she was unlikely to forgive him, said that nothing remained but to kill himself.

Madame replied, "Yes," and rushed to the dressing room and seized a bottle of laudanum. Carre's secretary, who followed, snatched the bottle away, and at that moment a shot was heard. Carre had committed suicide. He fell in the arms of his wife and secretary. His wife exclaimed: "I forgive you, dear. I love you," and while the secretary was wiping the blood from Carre's temples she took the revolver from her husband's hands, rushed back into her dressing room and shot herself. Both died in a short time.

INGLORIOUS END

The Child's Filibustering Party Loses Leader.

COMMANDER CASSALLES AND HIS BAND DISAPPEAR.

This Will Check Insurgents Near Havana.

WASHINGTON, June 26.—Word reaching official quarters in Washington indicates that the filibustering expedition which was believed to have gone to Cuba on the steamer George Childs has met with disaster. The boat was located after reaching Jamaica, but nothing definite has ever been heard as to the party beyond vague statements that they had landed at some remote point on the Cuban coast.

The last of these reports was two weeks ago on the 7th inst., since which time there has been no mention of what the band was doing. Information now reaching officials here leads to the belief that the party did not reach Cuba, but met with disaster off Florida, resulting in extreme hardship to its members.

Six of them have returned to Key West in a famished condition, having lived on crabs in the marshes of the keys off the Florida coast. From the fact that there has been no trace of the party in Cuba, the officials here believe that those who have suffered such hardships in the keys' swamps are the main band of the Childs' party.

In view of the developments as to the Childs filibustering party, it is not improbable that the United States cruiser Raleigh will turn her attention to them. She left Key West two days ago without announcing her destination, and it is possible she has received the information which now reaches here.

Cassalles' Band Dispersed.

Official confirmation was received from Havana yesterday as to the engagement between Major Garcia Delgado, with his Spanish command, and Cassalles, with insurgent forces. Cassalles and two others were killed and the band dispersed.

The engagement is said to have been specially important because of its locality. It occurred on the plantation of San Jose, near Placetas, province of Santa Clara.

This is the point nearest to Havana that the insurgents have reached. There was a decidedly gloomy feeling over their proximity to the capitol, because their commander, Cassalles, first enlisted in the Cuban volunteers in the service of Spain, and afterward deserted to the insurgents. His death, it is claimed, will break up the operations nearest Havana.

Its Twenty-Fifth Birthday.

CARIBOU, Me., June 26.—New Sweden yesterday celebrated the quarter-centennial of the foundation of the Swedish colony. W. W. Thomas, Jr., ex-United States minister to Norway and Sweden, and who 25 years ago brought the first colony of Swedish immigrants to Maine, delivered the principal address. The town was filled to overflowing with Swedes and other citizens from adjoining towns.

Fresh Trouble For Newfoundland.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., June 26.—The government was beaten on a snatch vote in the assembly yesterday. Their prestige is further damaged by statements copied from Canadian journals that the Canadian premier, Bowell, recently stated that the Newfoundland government had made several applications to them for financial help before the overtures for union began.

New Party Failed to Materialize.

WASHINGTON, June 26.—The treasury gold reserve, as the result of the Belmont-Morgan syndicate paying in $1,[illegible] in gold yesterday, became intact again for the first time since Dec. 14, 1894. It stands now at $10[illegible]. There is still owing from the syndicate $[illegible] in gold.

Triple Hanging Postponed.

Sanger Makes a New Record.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., June 26.—At yesterday's [illegible] races held by the West End Wheelmen, Sanger appeared as a professional and established a record for a half-mile, unpaced, for that class. His time was 1m. [illegible]s. below the previous records.

Blamed Cousin For Misfortune.

NEW YORK, June 26.—George Dennis committed suicide last evening by shooting in the head. He resided in a fashionable apartment house on Thirty-third street. He left a letter accusing his cousin of being the cause of his misfortune.

Ice Cream Poisons Seventy.

GREENBACKVILLE, Va., June 26.—Nearly the entire population was poisoned by ice cream eaten at a festival given by the Methodist church. The three physicians of the town report 70 poisoned, of which 5 are in a critical condition.

INSTRUCTIVE HOUSEHOLD TALK

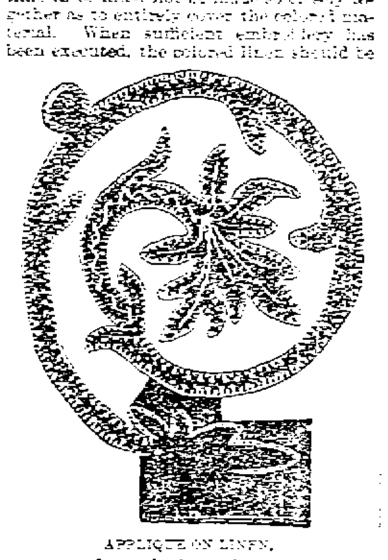

APPLIQUE EMBROIDERY VERY MUCH IN FAVOR.

This Form of Decorative Needle Work is Especially Adapted to Colored Linens—Wall Curtains—When You Spill Ink—Nice for a Picnic Luncheon.

The colored linens are enjoying a great deal of favor just now, and certainly they are a boon to dwellers in towns, with whom the white work so soon becomes soiled by fogs and smuts. Many of the white linen goods to be had in the shops are made up with corners and hems of the colored material, but if the article needed is to be made entirely of the colored fabric it is very economical to buy this by the yard and to make it up after embroidering it.

Applique ought not to be overlooked now that colored linens have been brought to such perfection. Charming heraldic designs have lately been brought out made of pale blue linen laid upon white and intended to be outlined and partially filled in with embroidery stitches. The worker of average intelligence should find no difficulty in managing a simple form of applique for herself. If she irons off a bold transfer pattern upon the colored linen, all she has to do, according to a writer in Cassell's Magazine, is to lay this upon a white material and to tack it well into place. The outlines on the tinted fabric should then be worked closely with buttonhole stitch, the straight edge of which should set toward the outside of the design, without exception. The stitches should all be taken through both materials.

A few open fillings, dots and lace stitches are a great improvement and tend to greatly enrich the work, though at the same time these must not be made so closely together as to entirely cover the colored material. When sufficient embroidery has been executed, the colored linen should be cut away beyond the outlines of the design, and now will be seen the utility of the buttonhole stitch in preventing the cut margins from raveling. The general effect of this simple kind of applique may be judged from the portion of a border sketched by the authority quoted, where there is a scroll of bright turkey twill applique on a background of [illegible] colored linen. The embroidery here is executed in white. There are many more elaborate forms of this class of work, but few that are more effective.

Wall Curtains.

A pretty fashion has been introduced lately of a wall curtain hanging at the back of a divan or an upright piano. These curtains of course must be made to afford an agreeable contrast to the walls on which they hang. Decorator and Furnisher describes them as about a yard and a quarter deep and a little more than two yards wide. On an olive green wall a curtain of bright yellow [illegible] is very pretty. A pale blue curtain looks well on a wall of Pompeian red.

A little blue silk curtain trimmed with silver fringe and suspended by silver rings from a slender silver rod is most effective behind a rosewood piano, and where there is a pink effect on the walls. Some of these curtains are made of Japanese stuffs and some of plush. In a somber room a wall curtain of yellow or gold colored silk lights up wonderfully well and gives a charming tone to the whole room.

When You Spill Ink.

Should you spill ink upon the carpet or upon a woolen tablecloth immediately sprinkle over it a thick layer of common salt, remarks an exchange. When this has absorbed all the ink that it can, carefully scrape it off and apply some more. Keep doing this until the ink is taken up. If your carpet has an ink spot upon it that you didn't know how to attack at the time of the accident, moisten it with hot water. Be careful not to use enough water to make the ink spread. Then apply the salt. Your success will not be complete, but the spot will become dim and perhaps will not be noticeable.

Nice For a Picnic Luncheon.

Take cold eggs which have been cooked for 25 minutes, chop the whites very fine and mash each yolk with a teaspoonful of butter. Then mix the whites and yolks, seasoning to taste. A little lemon juice may be added to the taste. Spread a slice of bread evenly with the egg mixture, a similar slice with butter and press the two together. The sandwiches should be covered with a napkin to prevent drying.

Asparagus on Toast.

Tie the stalks in bundles, keeping the heads one way, and cut off the stalks so that they may be of equal length. Put these into well salted boiling water and cook till tender, but no longer. Have ready some thin slices of toast. Drain the asparagus and arrange upon the toast and pour over it a good white sauce.

Baked Onions.

Boil in salted water one-half hour, lift out with a drain spoon and lay them closely together in a pan, salt and pepper, also a generous lump of butter on each onion; bake in a hot oven one-half hour, when they should be both tender and browned.

Grenadines and Gauzes.

Black grenadines, with bold chine flowers, make excellent summer dresses, and so do the summer gauzes. The coloring is exquisite—grass green, brilliant fuchsia, peach, etc. There is a large choice of checked grenadines and crepes. Gauzes and crepons, as well as chiffon, have been embroidered in the open hole work. Velvet gauzes are back again on shot grounds, the patterns floral and bold and gauze sometimes with well covering patterns in upstanding cord is used greatly for capes, so are the black silk grenadines. The new mousseline with the satin face is the best of all materials to show off the new colors.

A Departure.

"I guess," said the man with a political boom, "that it's time for me to attract some attention; to show a little originality and bring myself into the popular mind on a conspicuous footing."

"How are you going to do it?" inquired his wife.

"I'll go away from home and admit to the newspaper men that my visit has some political significance."—Washington Star.

THE NEW PREMIER

Has Called Five Members of His Cabinet.

CHAMBERLAIN IS TO BE THE SECRETARY.

It Was He Who Wrecked Rosebery's Cabinet.

LONDON, June 26.—The Marquis of Salisbury has formally accepted the premiership made vacant by the resignation of Lord Rosebery.

Robert Arthur Talbot Gascoigne Cecil, third Marquis of Salisbury, was born in 1830, and married the daughter of the late Baron Alderson. He was educated at Oxford, and is chancellor of that university. He has been twice secretary of state for India and twice secretary of state for foreign affairs. He was premier in 1885, and formed his second ministry in 1886. He resigned in 1892. He proceeded to Constantinople as a special ambassador at the conference there in November, 1876, and he and Lord Beaconsfield in 1878 were the representatives of Great Britain at the congress of Berlin.

Lord of the Treasury.

A. J. Balfour, Conservative leader in the house of commons, has been appointed first lord of the treasury in succession to Lord Rosebery, who held that position as well as the premiership.

A. J. Balfour, the first lord of the treasury, is a nephew of the Marquis of Salisbury, his mother being a daughter of the second Marquis of Salisbury and a sister of the present marquis. He was born in 1848, and was educated at Eton and at Cambridge. He was appointed president of the local board government in 1885, and was secretary for Scotland, with a seat in the cabinet, from 1886 to 1887; he became chief secretary for Ireland on the resignation of Michael Hicks-Beach in 1887, and retained that position until 1891, when, upon the death of William H. Smith, he became first lord of the treasury and leader of the house of commons, retaining that position until 1892, when the Salisbury government resigned. He was elected lord rector of St. Andrew's university in 1887, of Glasgow university in 1890, and was elected lord chancellor of the University of Edinburgh in 1891.

Joseph Chamberlain, the Unionist leader, has been appointed to succeed the Marquis of Ripon as

Secretary of State For the Colonies.

Joseph Chamberlain is one of the foremost and most daring men in British politics at the present time. He is credited with having engineered the downfall of the Rosebery government, and is undoubtedly a man of great political ability. He was born in London in 1836 and has been married three times, his present wife being a daughter of W. C. Endicott, formerly secretary of war of the United States. He was educated at the University college, London, was formerly a manufacturer in Birmingham, and retired from business in 1874. Mr. Chamberlain was three times successfully elected mayor of Birmingham, and was appointed president of the board of trade in 1880 and president of the local government board in 1886, resigning the latter posts shortly afterward. In August, 1887, he was appointed one of the commissioners to settle the fisheries dispute with the United States, and is a fellow of the Royal society.

The other members thus far chosen are: Duke of Devonshire, president of the council.

Michael Hicks-Beach, chancellor of the exchequer.

George J. Goschen, first lord of the admiralty.

The other members of the government have not yet been fixed upon.

Fighting Joe's Tactics.

Joseph Chamberlain, "Fighting Joe," as he used to be called in parliament about the time he deserted Gladstone, sprung the trap which caught the Rosebery ministry. Originally he was a Liberal, battling valiantly against the Tories under Gladstone, in whose second cabinet he was president of the board of trade.

Chamberlain led the advanced Radical wing until shortly after the formation of Gladstone's third ministry, in which he was president of the local government board. He quarreled with his chief over home rule and quit the Liberal ranks. Then he formed the Liberal-Union party, which he now leads in parliament.

This party, after seceding from the Liberal party on account of the Irish question, formed an alliance with the Conservative or Tory party. Chamberlain aspired to the leadership of the alliance. Having held the balance of power under the Gladstone and Rosebery governments, he just now holds in his hands, he seems to hold, the fate of the Tory government about to be installed.

The Conservatives wanted a general election before taking control of the government, in order to find out just how strong Chamberlain is with the people. Then they could gauge the amount of patronage necessary to be given to him.

They calculate upon capturing a lot of Liberal-Unionist seats, thinking that the members of the Liberal-Unionist party have been in the Conservative fold so long that most of them are ready to become straight-out Tories. It was just this sort of test that Chamberlain sought to avoid, it is presumed, by overturning the Liberal government as he did.

McCarthy's Manifesto.

Justin McCarthy has issued a manifesto to the people of Ireland stating that the defeat of the government has placed Ireland's bitterest enemies in office. "For a brief space before the election," the manifesto says, "Downing street and Dublin castle will be occupied by men pledged to the policy of coercion in Ireland. This defeat was compassed by the factionists, who still divide Ireland, and by the votes of the Chamberlains, the Russells and other false friends of land reform." Advocating the continuance of the alliance with the Liberal party as Ireland's only hope of redress, the manifesto appeals earnestly to Irishmen at home and abroad for funds with which to fight their enemies in the coming election campaign.

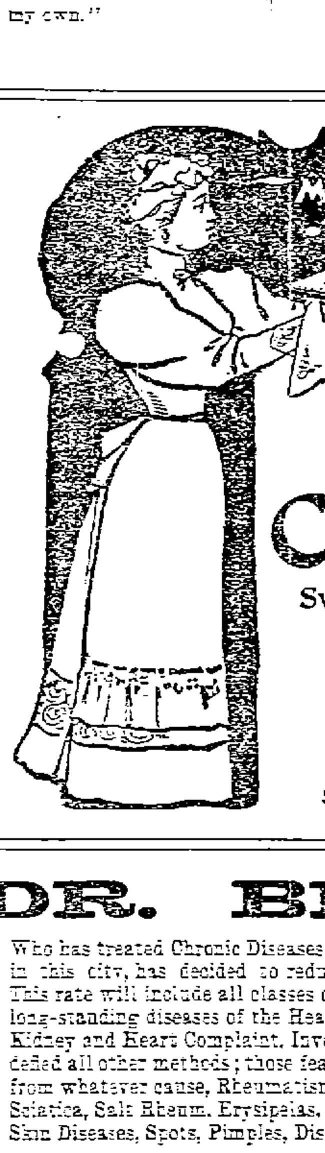

A great deal of interest during the present crisis centers in the course which Mr. Gladstone will decide to adopt. His secretary, when questioned on the subject, said that the great Liberal leader does not intend to issue a manifesto. He will remain in town for a few days, and will then go to Hawarden. Mr. Gladstone spent the morning in disposing of an accumulation of letters, and in the afternoon he visited the British museum.

Careless Use of a Pistol.

WATERBURY, June 26.—The Turners were parading last night. Mrs. Wiedman was watching the parade from a third story window, when a pistol was fired, and she was fatally wounded. James W. Cook was placed under arrest and may be charged with the responsibility for the shooting.

Some of them are very high and sightly; all are clean, dry and desirable; are attractive to build upon and very pleasantly situated for nice homes; they are only five or seven minutes ride from the corner of Merrimack and Bridge streets, a little over a mile from the corner of Merrimack and Central streets, as a matter of fact, about the same distance away as the Franklin school on Middlesex street, the Pawtucket bridge, or Davis corner. Eight choice corner lots. You can get a small plan of the lots at the office of the auctioneers, J. E. Conant & Co. The Game Elsewhere.

BOSTON, June 25.—The last game of the present series with New York resulted in a victory for Boston. Frank Sexton officiated for the home team and was in great form. The visitors opened on him quite hard, scoring two in the first inning. After that they failed to get a run or a hit until the seventh. They made four hits in the last three innings, but could not score. The big hitters were puzzled, and Sexton was monarch of all he surveyed.

WEDDED PRINCESS HELENE.

Duke of Aosta Takes a Wife From the House of Orleans.

LONDON, June 26. — Prince Emanuel, Duke of Aosta, was married yesterday at St. Raphael's Catholic church, Thames, to Princess Helene of Orleans, second daughter of the late Count of Paris.

DUKE OF AOSTA. PRINCESS HELENE.

The Duke of Aosta is the eldest son of the late Prince Amadeo, Duke of Aosta and ex-King of Spain, by his first wife, Princess Maria dal Pozzo della Cisterna, and is 23 years old. His step-mother is the youthful and beautiful Princess Letitia, whose gay pranks recently drew upon her King Humbert's displeasure. She is at the same time niece and sister-in-law of the king, and a special dispensation from the pope was, of course, obtained when she married her uncle, the late duke. Her step-son, the present duke, is a handsome young man and holds a commission in the Italian army as colonel of the Fifth regiment of artillery.

Princess Helene of Orleans is the second daughter of the late Count of Paris, who died last September, and is in her 24th year. She is golden-haired, blue-eyed, tall and very lovely. She is a magnificent equestrienne, swims like a fish, shoots with unerring aim and is most skilful with the sculls and foils—and all this without sacrificing any of her dainty femininity of Parisian elegance.

A Difference of Opinion.

KINGSTON, June 26. — A dispute has arisen here between the American and Spanish consuls regarding the steamer Bridgeton, which put in here in a half-wrecked condition, which her captain said was due to her having encountered a severe storm. The Spanish consul here alleges that the Bridgeton is a filibusterer, while the American consul and the captain and crew of the Bridgeton strenuously deny it. The British government has refused to take any action against the Bridgeton, on the ground that no evidence has been brought which shows that she is a filibusterer.

Crispi Carried the Day.

ROME, June 26. — In the chamber of deputies yesterday the Rightists raised a debate over the quarrel between Crispi and Cavallotti, demanding that the house should know who is in the wrong. Premier Crispi declined to make a statement, declaring that after serving his country for 53 years he considered himself as unassailable. Finally a motion to shelve the question was adopted by a vote of 283 yeas and 115 nays.

Harvard's Tribute to Langdell.

CAMBRIDGE, June 26. — The Harvard Law School association yesterday held the most noteworthy of the nine annual meetings which have taken place since its organization. All the members of the association and the school joined in expressing their grateful recognition of the debt owed to Professor Langdell, not only by the law school, but by the cause of legal education throughout the English-speaking world.

Smashing Engines and Scattering Debris on the Tracks.

REVERE, Mass., June 26.—There was a bad collision on the Boston and Maine road here yesterday, which caused heavy damage to rolling stock and great inconvenience to traffic by a blockade. No one was seriously hurt, but both engineers were bruised and passengers on the express shaken up.

SOUND MONEY MEN

Get the Better of Silverites at the Kentucky Democratic Convention.

LOUISVILLE, June 26.—The administration and Secretary Carlisle were certainly favorites in the Democratic state convention.

The silverites went into the district meetings in the morning and into the convention at noon with confidence. In the district meetings they were beaten two to one. They claimed four out of the 11 district members of the committee on resolutions, but the administration men claim that the committee stood eight to three originally against free silver, and as completed nine to four. The completion of this committee could not have been changed by the appointment of both members-at large from the silverites.

Between Judge Breckner, as temporary chairman, divided the members-at-large, giving one of the two to each side, the silver men felt that they had been outclassed, although they would not confess to being outnumbered. They claimed a victory in the election of Breckner over Stone, but after the former divided the appointments equally on all the committees and announced his conservative views, no claims were made on him.

Stone would have appointed only "sound money" men on the committees. Judge Breckner is a "sound money" man, but favored General Hardin for governor. Although General Hardin favors free coinage, he has been supported throughout by many who insist on a sound money platform.

The feature of the day was the defeat in his home district of Senator J. S. C. Blackburn, for member of the committee on resolutions, by Arthur Yenger, a man of pronounced gold standard views, but who has devoted his time to college work and not to politics.

Senator Blackburn aspired to the chairmanship of this committee, and expected to have a majority of its members with him for free coinage and against Cleveland and Carlisle.
